Preface

We stand at a pivotal moment, facing challenges that demand decisive action. The high cost of living and insufficient salaries strain many families, while limited career opportunities and inadequate education hinder our children's potential. Many retirees are struggling to get by on government pensions alone.

Since our Status Aparte, political management has often lacked long-term vision and proactive planning, leading to inefficiencies and neglect. Corruption has exacerbated these issues, inflating business costs and contributing to poverty and poor public services. Recent court cases involving figures like Paul Croes and Benny Sevinger highlight the pervasive nature of corruption, with further concerns raised by investigations into Marisol Tromp, Otmar Oduber, Chris Romero, and Guillfred Besaril.

Despite these challenges, the current government has made notable strides in financial management and anti-corruption efforts, and these must continue. Culturally, debates over traditional values have intensified, particularly following legislative proposals such as Miguel Mansur's initiative on same-sex marriage and recent court rulings perceived by many as undermining our cultural norms and Christian and Democratic values.

In response, Lucha pa Reforma offers a comprehensive solution—driving progress by investing in families while preserving our traditions and values. Our goal is to foster meaningful change through a combination of innovation and respect for our heritage, ensuring a prosperous and principled future for Aruba. We are committed to addressing these urgent issues and building a stronger, more inclusive nation for all.
